1. INTRODUCTION

On November 21, 2017, the Kyrgyz Republic has officially joined the Open Government Partnership (OGP) as 75 participating country. Kyrgyzstan's accession to this international initiative is a logical continuation of country's efforts undertaken towards building an open and democratic society. As a result of the national referendum, new Constitution was adopted in 2010, ensuring parliamentary-presidential form of government. Parliamentary elections of 2010 and 2015 have been recognized by the world community as democratic and a first precedent in Central Asia of peaceful presidential power transition in 2017 created a solid foundation for the development of democratic institutions, political competition and achievement of social stability. Strong and active civil society has been formed in the country over the years since independence. There are more than 17,000 non-governmental organizations operating in the field of human rights protection, social services, environmental protection, promotion of democratic values and other spheres.

At the moment the main objective for the country is to transform these political achievements into sustainable economic development and improved living standards of its citizens. The major risks for achieving this goal is weakness of state institutions, high level of corruption and absence of the rule of law. Due to the conditions of objective budget constraints, overcoming these risks is impossible without involving resources and energy of the civil society. Transparent work of state structures is a prerequisite for building mutual trust between the government and citizens. Thus, joining the OGP, Kyrgyzstan has committed itself to promote transparency, accountability, citizens' engagement in decision making processes, fight corruption, and use new technologies to strengthen governance and make the state more effective and responsive to citizens' needs.

2. OPEN GOVERNMENT EFFORTS TO DATE

Values and principles of the OGP are consistent with priorities of the country's strategic development programs, including the National Strategy for Sustainable Development of the Kyrgyz Republic for 2018–2040, and the Government program “Unity. Trust. Creation» for 2018-2022. Additionally, Kyrgyz Republic has joined and ratified the UN Convention against Corruption and is a party to the Istanbul Anti-Corruption Action Plan that includes a number of activities aimed at improving citizens' access to information from state bodies, civil society participation in fighting corruption, reforming state procurement, public finance transparency and other actions meeting the goals of the OGP.

The country has adopted laws that guarantee its citizens access to information and provide for transparent work of the government, including the law “On Access to Information held by state bodies and local self-government bodies of the Kyrgyz Republic”.

Since begin of 2017 Kyrgyzstan has been implementing the program of digital transformation in order to improve public administration efficiency, as well as quality of public services for citizens. Understanding the need to use the best international practices for digital transformation, with respecting democratic principles and protecting the rights of citizens, determined the intention of the Government of the Kyrgyz Republic to join the OGP.

The NAP for 2018-2020 is the first NAP adopted by the country. It consists of 22 commitments and covers 9 thematic areas of the OGP. Overall 22 state bodies are involved in the NAP implementation and its implementation will be monitored at the highest state level in close cooperation with civil society.

3. NAP DEVELOPMENT PROCESS

After joining the OGP, process of collecting proposals from civil society and government agencies to be then included in the NAP was initiated since January 2018 through the www.ogp.el.kg website where all interested parties could submit their proposals online. The website also allows collecting public opinion for the proposals.

In January 2018 the member of OGP Steering Committee Mr. Giorgi Kldiashvili and representatives of OGP Support Unit Ms. Shreya Basu and Mr. Jack Mahoney participated in consultations with state agencies, representatives of civil society and development partners in order to increase awareness about the OGP.

Also on January 30, 2018, a conference was held to launch the process of developing a NAP with the participation of heads of state authorities, representatives of civil society and development partners, as well as representatives of the OGP.

After the conference information campaign was carried out to inform citizens about the OGP, its main principles and values and development of a two-year NAP. Information appeared on government website, in the media and social networks. A number of roundtables were also organized to involve civil society organizations in the NAP development process.

In February 2018, the Open Government Coalition was established by civil society and candidates for membership in the Open Government National Forum were selected from the Coalition members. This group of civil society activists from February to June 2018 worked on collecting proposals from civil society and government agencies for inclusion in the NAP.

From February to June 2018 more than 40 different proposals were received in total from non-governmental organizations, business associations, government agencies and citizens. All proposals were reviewed for compliance with OGP principles and criteria.

Each commitment, after approval by the Open Government National Forum, was posted on the website www.ogp.el.kg and went through a public discussion procedure to collect opinions from the public. 22 public discussions were held and more than 219 members of the public, media and government agencies took part (Annex 1).

According to the results of 4 meetings of the National Forum in June-July 2018, 18 commitments were approved for inclusion in the NAP.

The Open Government National Forum on July 30, 2018 has decided to complete the development of the first NAP and transferred it for additional approval to the Government of the Kyrgyz Republic. This was undertaken to enhance the accountability of the government agencies involved and strengthen the monitoring opportunities. By the Government Decree No. 360-r from October 16, 2018, the NAP was approved and, in accordance with this Government decision, monitoring and evaluation of the implementation of the commitments included in the NAP will be carried out on a regular basis by the Open Government National Forum.

Since the activities of the Open Government Partnership cover not only issues of executive branch, but also the legislative branch, on November 2, 2018, a working group was established to develop an action plan for the implementation of parliamentary openness. In the first half of 2019, the working group prepared an action plan for the building of the Open Parliament. On June 25, 2019, the Plan was reviewed and approved by the Committee on Constitutional Legislation, State Structure, Judicial Legal Issues and the Rules of Procedure of the Jogorku Kenesh (Parliament) of the Kyrgyz Republic. This Action Plan includes 4 commitments and will be implemented during 2019 to 2020.

4. OPEN GOVERNMENT NATIONAL FORUM

The Open Government National Forum was created by the Government Decree No. 226-r on June 27, 2018.

The National Forum consists of 38 representatives from civil society and state authorities on equal basis. (Annex II)

The first meeting of the OGNF was held on June 30, 2018, from which the development of the first NAP began. Four meetings took place before July 30, 2018, at which commitments for inclusion in the NAP were reviewed and approved.

Open Government National Forum developed a two-year National Plan of Action for building an Open Government for the period 2018-2020, which was approved by the Decree of the Government of the Kyrgyz Republic dated October 16, 2018 No. 360.

Commitment description
What is the public problem that the commitment will address?	Absence of the rule of law is one of the main pending challenges for the Kyrgyz Republic. One of the reasons for the judicial system inefficiency and corruption is poor public access to judicial decisions and materials. The search engine does not perform contextual search - search by keywords, thus not allowing for analysis and synthesis of the judicial practice.
What is the commitment?	Website of judicial acts will be modernized for publication of judicial decisions to occur automatically excluding human factor effect. Contextual search by keywords will be added to make it possible to quickly search for the needed decision and summarize identical judicial decisions.

How will the commitment contribute to solve the public problem?	The proposed initiative will improve openness and transparency of the judicial system through citizens' access to the judicial decisions, as well as availability of the operational search for judicial decisions in certain categories of cases, analysis and synthesis of judicial practice. Citizens' access to judicial decisions texts will significantly increase the possibility of monitoring, making it possible to compare judicial practice in similar cases, identifying different judicial practices.

OTRK, EITR and other channels broadcast “Lessons of Parliamentarism” (information program on the work of the Parliament and the results of its work). The communication strategy of the Parliament was adopted to develop the system of communication with the population and to inform about its work in accordance with the approved annual plans. Within the framework of the “Open Parliament” implementation plan, it is planned to launch a series of programs on the functions and tasks of the Parliament (once a month), as well as short clips about the Jogorku Kenesh (promotion through TV, radio and social networks).
