Report on Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the Open Government Partnership (a project of Tides Center) (the “Project”), including the grant from the Department for International Development, which comprise the statements of all activities and changes in net assets for the period from January 1, 2018 to March 31, 2018, and the year ended December 31, 2017, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management’s Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with the provisions of the Department for International Development grant; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the statements of activities and changes in net assets that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors’ Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and the provisions of the DfiD grant. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors’ judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditors consider internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the statements of activities and changes in net assets.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to in the first paragraph presents fairly, in all material respects, the statements of all activities and changes in net assets of Open Government Partnership (a project of Tides Center), including the grant from the Department for International Development, for the period from January 1, 2018 to March 31, 2018 and the year ended December 31, 2017, in accordance with its related provisions as described in Note 2.

Other MattersBasis of Accounting

We draw attention to Note 2 to the financial statements, which describes the basis of accounting. The statements of activities and changes in net assets were prepared by the Project on the basis of the terms of the grant from the Department for International Development, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, to comply with the provisions of the grant referred to above. Our opinion is not modified with respect to that matter.

Restricted on Use

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Department for International Development, the Open Government Partnership, management of Tides Center, and the Board of Directors and is not intended to be, and should not be, used by anyone other than these specific parties.

Notes to Statements of Activities and Changes In Net Assets

NOTE 1 – DESCRIPTION OF PROJECT

Open Government Partnership (OGP) was formed in 2011. OGP is a voluntary, multi-stakeholder international initiative that aims to secure concrete commitments from governments to their citizens to promote transparency, empower citizens, fight corruption, and harness new technologies to strengthen governance. In pursuit of these goals, OGP provides an international forum for dialogue and sharing ideas and experience among governments, civil society organizations, and the private sector, all of which contribute to a common pursuit of open government. OGP's stakeholders include participating governments as well as civil society and private sector entities that support the principles and mission.

OGP's agenda is set by a Steering Committee composed of 11 national governments and 11 civil society representatives. Representatives are appointed to three-year terms by their respective constituencies (either through a vote of all participating OGP governments or through the decision of a selection committee).

OGP receives contributions from participating governments, foundations, and bilateral development agencies. OGP's purpose is that more governments become sustainably more transparent, more accountable, and more responsive to their own citizens, with the ultimate goal of improving the quality of governance, as well as the quality of services that citizens receive.

Tides Center, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, is the fiscal sponsor of OGP (the Project). The Project does not receive direct financial support from Tides Center.

NOTE 2 – SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of accounting and presentation – The accompanying statements of activities and changes in net assets have been prepared on the basis of terms of the provisions of the Department for International Development (DfiD) grant to OGP.

The Project reports information regarding its net assets and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted, temporarily restricted, and permanently restricted. For the period from January 1, 2018 through March 31, 2018 and the year ended December 31, 2017, the Project did not have any permanently restricted net assets.

Unrestricted net assets – Unrestricted net assets consist of all resources of OGP that have not been restricted by a donor.

Temporarily restricted net assets – Temporarily restricted net assets are net assets subject to donor-imposed stipulations that may or will be met, either by actions of OGP and/or the passage of time. When a restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statements of activities and changes in net assets as net assets released from restrictions. Net assets were released from donor restrictions for the period ended March 31, 2018, and for the year ended December 31, 2017, in the amount of $1,200,000 and $2,024,774, respectively. At March 31, 2018 and December 31, 2017, temporarily restricted net assets of $0 and $1,200,000, respectively, were held for future periods due to time restrictions.

Notes to Statements of Activities and Changes In Net Assets

Government contributions – The Steering Committee of OGP resolved that all government members of the Steering Committee should contribute annually to the OGP budget, that these contributions should be multi-year (subject to domestic approval and allocation rules), and that OGP should adopt a sliding scale for minimum contributions using the World Bank income categorization as follows: $200,000 per year for high-income countries, $100,000 per year for middle income countries, and $50,000 per year for low income countries. Moreover, members resolved to request contributions from participating countries, not on the Steering Committee. According to the OGP Articles of Governance, Steering Committee members are not permitted to run for reelection if they do not contribute. These contributions are recognized as revenue in the applicable period when received and are recorded net of an allowance for amounts estimated by management that are not expected to be collected. For the period ended March 31, 2018 and the year ended December 31, 2017, there was no allowance recorded.

Grants and contributions – Contributions are recognized at their fair value when received or when the donor makes an unconditional promise to give to the Project. All donor-restricted contributions are reported as increases in temporarily net assets. When a restriction expires, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets.

Revenue from government and foundation grants may be recognized as a contribution or an exchange transaction, based on a determination of whether there is a reciprocal agreement with certain deliverables entered into with a third party. If the grant is determined to be an exchange transaction, then revenue is recognized as the related services are provided. Payments under such transactions are often on a cost-reimbursement basis.

Functional expense allocation – The costs of providing the various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statements of activities and changes in net assets. Expenses applicable to more than one program or activity have been allocated among the programs and supporting services based on usage and management estimates. For the period from January 1, 2018 through March 31, 2018, and for the year ended December 31, 2017, there were no fundraising expenses.

NOTE 3 – CONCENTRATIONS

For the period from January 1, 2018 through March 31, 2018, government contributions represented 17% of support and revenue. For the year ended December 31, 2017, government contributions represented 35% of support and revenue.

Subsequent events are events or transactions that occur after the financial statements date, but before the financial statements are available to be issued. The Project has evaluated subsequent events through August 21, 2018, which is the date the financial statements were available to be issued.
